THURSDAY AUGUST 26.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The republican electors of the state of Wisconsin are requested to elect delegates to a state convention to be held in the capitol, at Madison,

WEDNESDAY SEPT. 8, 1886,

at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates of the republican party for the several state offices, to be voted for at the ensuing general election in November Each county will be entitled to delegates as follows, the representation being based upon the number of votes cast for Mr. Blaine in 1884, one delegate to each 500 votes, or major fraction of 500—each county entitled to one delegate, without reference to number of votes cast:

R. A. TAYLOR, Chairman.

J. E. HEG, G. W. CARTER, C. H. BAXTER, GEORGE PASCHEN, GUSTAV KOSTERMAN, JOHN RIGGS, O. K. IRWIN, J. W. DEGROFF, H. C. HETZEL, SIMEON WHITELEY, C. K. PIER, J. G. MONAHAN, J. R. BRIGHAM, L. B. HARVEY, W. M. GRISWOLD, A. L. SLYE, W. H. HUNTINGTON, MARION WESCOTT, State central committee.

Hudson, Wis., July 12, 1886.

The democrats want a still campaign. A party that is being chased to the woods always wants the dogs called off.

Major S. S. Rockwood, of Portage, has again been defeated as a delegate to the republican state convention. History very frequently repeats itself.

The unusual low stage of water in the upper Mississippi is indicated by the fact that the river has recently been forded on Horseback at Clinton and Dubuque.

The popularity of Gen Lew Wallace's novel, Ben Hur, is unabated. More than 100,000 copies of the book have been sold and edition follows edition with great celerity.

A thousand persons were drowned in the recent flood and inundation caused by the breaking of the river embankment at the city of Mandalay, Burmah, and the property loss is computed at about $5,000,000.

Henry E. Abbey, the theatrical manager, found himself $230,000 worse off than nothing two years ago. Since then he has paid off $200,000 of his debts, and hopes to stand clear by Christmas.

The west side street-car line in Milwaukee will soon become a cable road, it its projectors can secure from the common council the franchise they are now pleading for. The cost of the project is estimated at $300,000.

The handbook for the campaign, which is being prepared by the democratic executive committe, which will be a truthful book, of course, will tell all about the Bragg-Delaney bargain and sale, and will warmly commend it.

Eugenie, the French ex-empress, has been staying in the lovely Isle of Wight, and has found there so much health that she will not make her usual visit to the continent. She is going to the north to be near Queen Victoria—the two widows always meeting during some part of each year.

The democratic papers do not like Mr. Blaine's speech. It is a very strange thing that Mr. Blaine will persist in making speeches that the democrats do not like. It is surprising that the democrats who say that Blaine can't talk without getting his foot in it, do not like his speeches.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Panama, says that within the last five months the death rate among the chief resident officials of the Panama Canal company has been more than 33 per cent., a mortality which, if it extended to all classes of the community, would exterminate every man, woman and child on the Isthmus in six months.

The next legislature will be asked to pass a bill permitting the city of Milwaukee to issue $175,000 of city bonds for exclusive use in improving the city's sanitary condition by means of a flushing tunnel connecting Lake Michigan with the Milwaukee river. The river is at present a mere open sewer and is the loudest-smelling affair of the kind west of Cologne.

"The appearance of Jeff Davis in a Mississippi democratic convention as an apologist for President Cleveland, on the ground of his inexperience in national politics," remarks the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, "is one of those pleasant episodes which serve to remind us from time to time that the memories of the war have been buried, and that this is an era of abounding sectional forgiveness and harmony."

The consumption of paper and the volume of its manufacture are sometimes taken as standards of civilization. The United States has 884 paper mills and 1,100 paper machines. Germany has 809 mills and 891 machines; France 420 mills and 525 machines; England 361 mills and 541 machines; Scotland 69 mills, 98 machines; Ireland 13 mills, 13 machines; Russia 133 mills, 137 machines; and Austria 220 mills, 270 machines. The average annual production of paper in all countries is estimated at 2,600,000 tons—a quantity which fairly entitles the present age to be called the age of paper.

The democrats are doing considerable boasting that their so-called political handbook which is being prepared by the democratic executive committee at Washington, will not be paid for by any contributions from government officeholders, that none of them have been asked to contribute a cent, and that no assessments for that purpose will be made. This kind of hypocracy sounds well. Probably the executive committee does not intend to pay for the book.

Mrs. J. Allen Foster, of Iowa, one of the most prominent women temperance advocates in this country, is reported as saying at Lakeside, Ohio, recently: "The third party did nothing to secure prohibition in Georgia. The people down there don't believe in it. The third party did not secure prohibition in Iowa. The people did it. The third party is doing prohibition more harm than the adherents of high license." Mrs. Foster takes the common sense view of the question. It is needless to say that she and Miss Willard do not speak as they pass by.

The Buffalo Express calls attention to one fact which should be remembered: As to the way in which Mr. Cleveland has generally fulfilled the promises he charged himself with, it is instanced that when he entered the White House there were thirteen negro watchmen in the treasury building. To-day there is one. Of the fifty-seven negro messengers there then, but seven remain. It is the same way in other departments, while the only other conspicuous appointment of a negro to office by this administration aside from Matthews, is that of the minister to Hayti.

The Charleston, S. C., News and Courier says that in the five cent savings banks in Charleston the colored people have $124,936.35 on deposit. The largest of those depositors has upwards of $6,000 to his credit. The total number of colored depositors is 1,057. The largest colored depositor in the Carolina savings bank, who has $6,747.30 to his credit, is a pure blooded African but a born financier. He has recently bought a valuable plantation for $10,000 and has paid $7,000 of the purchase. There are thousands of active and thrifty colored men in the south who have bought land since the war and who possess many of the luxuries of life.

It is intimated that republican leaders will attempt to make the Milwaukee imbroglio the issue in the coming campaign There is no political [party, nor any respectable number of citizens in Wisconsin opposed to law and order. It would be just as sensible to drag a dog fight in for an issue.—Madison Democrat.

That is all right enough, but when the Schilling portion of the democratic party condemns the governor and some democratic papers support the condemnation, it is time for the republicans to make the riot an issue, or in other words to defend the prompt and vigorous action of Governor Rusk. That is all there is about it.

A dispatch from Madison says Governor Rusk has received a letter from M. J. Durham, first comptroller of the treasury, stating that the Wisconsin direct war tax had been finally adjusted and that there was now due Wisconsin from the general government from $6,000 to $8,000. The general government's claim against the state when Governor Rusk took his office five year's ago was $207,000. Notice has also been received by the governor that Wisconsin had been allowed $24,000 on its claim of 5 per cent on the revenue derived by the general government on all the public lands sold in Wisconsin for the year ending June 30, 1883. Governor Rusk expects that the adjustment on the same claim for the years 1884, 1885 and 1886 will soon be made, and that the state will realize therefrom about $65,000 more. The whole to be realized by the state from this source, it is expected, will be about $100,000.

One of the strong points of Mr. Blaine's Lake Sebago speech was what he said about the prohibition party. In one part of his speech he said:

The third party in their convention cheerfully testify that prohibition has been so well enforced by the republicans that in their judgment Maine is a quarter of a century ahead of the license states in all that pertains to the temperance reform. The republicans have this year with special emphasis in their state convention reaffirmed their faith in prohibition and nominated for governor a pronounced supporter of the law. But all this does not suit the third party prohibitionists. They desire a party of their own, just small enough to have no effect at all, or, if possible just large enough to throw the state into the hands of the democratic party, which has been as constant in its hostility to prohibition as the republican party of Maine has been constant in its fidelity to prohibition.

Then, again, putting the platform of the Maine prohibitionists in the right light, and putting its true intent and meaning in simple language and in an abbreviated form, Mr. Blaine says it reads as follows:

Whereas, the republican party of Maine enacted a prohibitory law thirty years ago, and has since amended it as a majority of the friends of temperance demanded, and has in consequence advanced Maine in all matters of temperance a quarter of a century ahead of the license states; therefore, be it resolved, that we, members of a third party of prohibitionists, will so vote as to defeat the republican party and turn the government of Maine over to the democrats, who have through all these years opposed prohibition by every instrumentality in their power.

"Divested of all humbuggery, the prohibition platforms of Maine and other states, means just what Mr. Blaine says it does in the resolution given above. It is simply an unholy alliance with the democratic party for the purpose of defeating the republican party.

THE FIRST DISTRICT.

The Racine Journal, speaking of political affairs in this, the First congressional district, says:

The name of H. A. Cooper for congress has been before the public sufficiently long to obtain a fair idea of how it has been received. Without going into details it is enough to say that his candidacy for the first honors of the convention has evoked an enthusiasm and warm approval that is a sufficient warrant for the presentation of his name by the Journal. While it is true that Mr. Caswell retains the good opinion of his friends in the district, and more especially where he is better known in the western end, it is no secret that for weighty reasons a change is desired. Mr. Caswell was moved into the First district by no volition of his own, but by virtue of a congressional appointment beyond his control. He was received like a distinguished new arrival, as it were, and in response to a desire of his own, not opposed by the people, was elected a member of congress to represent them for one term. The honors being paid it is submitted that the people of the eastern end have a right to demand the question on the original motion, that the eastern end of the district now after these many years, is entitled to the honor of naming the candidate.

The political wheel continually revolves and will do until time shall be no more. It is of no avail to argue expediency in the case or that because one person has done this or that Jefferson county shall again name the candidate. Year after year Racine and Kenosha counties especially, have men hooked Rock county. They, while desiring a lake shore representative man two years ago with Walworth county, were tricked out of the nomination, but rallied to the nominee and gave him an old-fashioned majority at the November poll.

It is all right, it is equitable, it is in accordance with the fitness of things that this year the programme be revised. There is every reason for it. There are good and solid arguments in support of the claim. Racine county, in Mr. Cooper, presents a man who cannot but be acceptable to the people. He possesses, in a marked degree, attributes of character that will be of value in the fiftieth congress. The commanding issues of the day, fixing themselves upon the public mind, require attention and thought, and such men as Mr. Cooper, fresh from the ranks of the people, divested from all entangling alliances with any set of men or measure, are peculiarly suited for following the march of events and analying right and wrong the practical and the unreal.

The lake shore interests are entitled to consideration. There is a feeling that Racine has performed its duty with such faithfulness to the western portion that it should now be returned in good faith. The people here are in earnest. There is a prevalent feeling that Mr. Caswell should give way to Mr. Cooper, and the unanimity with which the candidacy of the latter is received is the best testimony of the strength of Mr. Cooper.

Arrested on a Charge of Arson.

ANDERSON, Ind., Aug. 26.—Monday night Detective Frank C. Lloyd, of Indianapolis, arrested John Cottrell, a young man, at Pendleton, this county, and lodged him in jail, upon a charge of arson. Young Cottrell is the person who set fire to Woodward Bros' flouring mill at Lapel, on Monday night of last week, by which the mill was destroyed and a loss of $10,000 inflicted upon the proprietors. Since his incarceration the prisoner has made a statement acknowledging his own guilt and implicating George and T. J. Ford, cousins, who are interested in a rival flouring-mill at Lapel. The Fords have also been arrested.

Identified the Dead Man.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 26.—The burglar who was killed Monday while robbing the store of M. B. Fisher, of Whitesville, has been identified as George Andrews, of near Fairland, Shelby county, where he has a wife who is wealthy. He has served three terms in the penitentiary.

Death of Mrs. S. H. Buskirk.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—A telegram from Paulding, Ohio, states that Mrs. Buskirk, widow of Samuel H. Buskirk, ex-supreme court judge, died on Sunday night of paralysis. The remains will be taken to Bloomington for interment. She was once a resident of Indianapolis.

Took Her Pewter Dish Along.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—Grandmother Boggs, of Milton, 105 years old, was one of the attractions at the old settlers' meeting at Centerville, Wayne county, last Saturday. She had with her the little pewter dish she ate mush and milk out of when a child.

NOT ACCORDING TO RULE.

A REVOLUTION THAT APPEARS TO BE GOING BACKWARD.

The Recent Russian Scheme in Bulgaria "All Torn Up"—A Revolutionary Ministry Upset and a Hunt Inaugurated for Alexander—High Old Time in the British Parliament—Foreign Flashes.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Dispatches from Sofia say that the provisional government which had been formed to administer the affairs of Bulgaria after the deposition of Prince Alexander has been overthrown, and the minister of foreign affairs, M. Clement; the minister of finance, M. Zankoff, and M. Groueff, another member of the provisional government, have been arrested, and that the Karaveloff ministry, which is in favor of Prince Alexander, has been reinstated. A deputation, these dispatches further state, has been sent in search of the dethroned prince to ask him to return to the palace and reassume the direction of affairs of the country.

Lord Iddesleigh, secretary for foreign affairs, remained at his desk all day and until late in the evening Wednesday. He was in constant telegraphic communication with the various British representatives in the east and with Lord Salisbury, who was in his laboratory at Hatfield engrossed in experimenting with an electric invention of his own, designed to propel agricultural machinery, the application of electricity to this purpose being his favorite hobby. Lord Salisbury was induced evidently by the nature of the news he received from the foreign office to lay aside his invention and return to London, which he did at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. He was met at the station on his arrival by messengers, who handed him several bundles of dispatches. These he read at once, after which he entered his carriage and was driven rapidly away.

It is reported that 10,000 Bulgarian troops, which have been stationed on the Servian frontier, are hastening to Sofia to support the restoration of Alexander. The garrison of Bulgarian troops stationed at Rustchuk, who are all loyal to Prince Alexander, are marching to Sofia, which place is besieged by loyal troops.

All of the official dispatches received by the government Wednesday relative to the whereabouts of Prince Alexander confirm the previous reports that he was landed at Reni-Russi, and has not since been heard of.

The Standard says that Alexander is traveling from Lomberg, Galicia, by rail to Darmstadt.

It is the general opinion that Prince Alexander was a prisoner in the hands of the Russians until he arrived at Reni-Russi, where he was released.

Dispatches from Berlin state that Prince Bismarck is much surprised at the anti-Russian tone of the Austro-Hungarian press.

The Times declares that if Russia sends an army to Bulgaria, it will be the duty of England and Turkey to intervene. The Paris papers think that an Austro Russian war will be the outcome of this trouble, and that Germany, as a friend of Austria, will be drawn into the fight.

There is an unverified rumor here that the population at Sofia has attacked the house of the Russian agent. If the bitterness of the Bulgarians against Russia is as deep as reported, it is thought the Bulgarians will fight against a Russian army of invasion and that they will be supported by Turkey.

Revolutionizing a Revolution.

TIRNOVA, Aug. 26.—M. Stambuloff has issued a proclamation in the name of Prince Alexander and the Bulgarian parliament in which he assumes the direction of the government at Sofia, provisionally. All persons failing to conform to the requirements of said provisional government will be dealt with by military law. The proclamation appoints Gen. Mouttakoroff commander of the Bulgarian army with full civil and military powers.

Only a Matter of Opinion.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 26.—Mr. Gladstone in an interview Wednesday evening said he did not believe that Prince Alexander would return to Bulgaria, but added that he had no specific basis upon which to form his opinion.

CONFUSION IN THE COMMONS.

The Irish Members Have the Floor and "Make Home Howl."

LONDON, Aug. 26.—In the house of commons Wednesday night William Redmond, member for Fermanagh, said it was useless to discuss the land question with a view to its settlement now. The question at issue was whether landlords should be allowed to evict tenants for not paying rents which it was absolutely impossible for them to pay, and also whether the English would allow the Irish people to be cast out upon the roadside during the coming winter. If the present system were continued, and it should result in bloodshed, misery and outrage, the government would be responsible.

A. J. Balfour, member for Manchester, accused Parnell of trying to make good government in Ireland impossible by promoting a general anti-rent strike.

Maj. Saunderson, member for Armagh, speaking as a landlord, refuted the charge of the Parnellites that the Irish landlords—blood-suckers as the Parnellites are pleased to call them—are afraid to speak in the house of commons. He quoted from a speech delivered by Matthew Harris, member for Galway, in October, 1880, wherein Harris said that if the Irish farmers shot landlords like partridges, he [Harris] would not blame them.

Harris asked Maj. Saunderson to read what he [Harris] had said in that speech leading up to the extract he had quoted.

Maj. Saunderson—"Only a portion of it is worth repeating."

Considerable uproar ensued, Harris, Saunderson, Dalton and others fruitlessly endeavoring to be heard. When quiet was restored Harris, denying an accusation made by Maj. Saunderson that he was a member of the ribbon order said: "I repudiate the accusation as an infamous falsehood."

The speaker ordered Harris to withdraw that expression, which he did.

Maj. Saunderson, resuming his speech, said that all classes of trade in Ireland were more or less depressed except that of the professional Irish politician. That never was more flourishing than now. The Parnellites, he said, were trying to exterminate the landlords by a system of terrorism. Parnell was an engineer. He could turn on or shut off steam at will. Parnell held the throttle valve of crime in Ireland. He had opened it before and it was in his power to do it again when he chose to.

Here there were loud cries of "order! order!" which were soon drowned by catcalls, hooting, etc., etc., and a scene of wild confusion which lasted several minutes was finally brought to an end by the vigorous efforts of the speaker.

The speaker requested Maj. Saunderson to withdraw his remark reflecting upon Parnell's responsibility for Irish outrages, and, the member for Armagh complied, remarking that he still maintained his private opinion of the correctness of the language he had used.

On motion of Joseph Chamberlain the debate was adjourned.

Profiting by Gladstone's absence, the Radicals intend to devote their efforts to worrying the government by demanding statements relative to the intentions of the ministry in the Bulgarian matter, and harrassing them in other ways.

BEAUTEOUS BELFAST.

Protestant Rowdies Distinguish Themselves Again.

BELFAST, Aug. 26.—Since the beginning of the riots the police have been withdrawn from the Protestant districts in Belfast. An attempt was made to replace them Wednesday night and fifty constables were sent to patrol the Shankhill road. A mob attacked them with stones and the police charged the crowd, but were unable to disperse them. The rioters made a second attack upon the police and drove them from the ground, seriously wounding several of them. The military came to the rescue of the police, dispersed the mob and arrested six of the leaders.

At 1 o'clock Thursday morning the mob made another attack upon Daly's tavern on Peter's Hill, and the building was completely wrecked. The rioters placed chains across the Shank hill in order to trip the police when they should hurry to the rescue, and the plan was successful. When the police finally arrived they were set upon by the mob and terribly stoned. Several of them were so badly injured that their removal to the hospital was necessary. The troops were summoned and charging the mob cleared the road. Twenty of the rioters were arrested.

Shocking Accident at Sheffield.

SHEFFIELD, Aug. 26.—The walls of a warehouse used for the storage of steel ingots fell, Wednesday, killing and injuring a large number of children who were playing on the pavement beneath. The bodies of seven of those killed have been recovered. Many are still missing.

MILAN, Aug. 26.—Giovanni Sacci, professes to have discovered a liquid which will enable a person to fast from thirty to sixty days. He will make a trial in public.

HAD A NICE SCHEME,

Which, However, Has Got Them Into a Bad Box.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25.—J. W. Milton and M. C. Nixon were brought to this city Wednesday from Peru, where they were arrested by the Federal authorities. Milton has been an engineer on the Wabash railroad, and was treasurer of the Locomotive Engineers' Gift enterprise, while Nixon was manager. Nixon came from Mattoon, Ills., where he and others originated the lottery scheme, and from which it is estimated he and others have derived fully $100,000. The capital prize was to be a farm of 280 acres, near Mattoon, which it has since developed is mortgaged for $14,000, and the drawing was announced to take place April 10. Before that time, however, a bench warrant was issued for the men, and they transferred their operations to Terre Haute, where the alleged drawing took place July 19, and resulted as such things usually do. It became too warm for Nixon and the others there, and since then they have been drifting about from one place to another, eluding the officers. The two men will be returned to Mattoon for trial.

CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

A SORT OF RED LETTER DAY FOR STATE POLITICIANS.

Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists at Work Making Tickets and Platforms.

Blaine Takes Another Fall at the "Dry" Men—Conventions in Session in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Michigan, North Carolina and California—The Record of Proceedings and Pronouncements—Notes.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 26.—There was a full attendance of delegates to the Republican state convention, which met at 10:20 a. m., Wednesday. Chairman Lowery, of the state committee in his opening speech, made references to Sherman and Blaine as candidates for president, and the applause was pretty equally divided between the two. Ex-Governor Noyes was introduced as temporary chairman and received with loud cheers. He made a speech in which he criticised the national administration and denounced the president's pension vetoes, as well as his method of enforcing the civil service law. He also severely commented on the Hamilton county election frauds and the alleged bribery in the election of Senator Payne. The convention then took recess until 1:30 p. m.

Upon reassembling the organization committee announced the name of Gov. Foraker for chairman and D. Lanning, of Columbus, for secretary. Gov. Foraker was enthusiastically received. The convention broke out in a storm of applause which continued until the governor was forced to raise his hand in deprecation. During his speech he was constantly interrupted by the enthusiastic plaudits of his admiring supporters. Gov. Foraker took occasion to rebuke the strictures upon the Hamilton county delegation by the loudly applauded sentiment: "I congratulate you upon the magnificent delegations you have here today. I congratulate you upon the magnificent delegation here even from Hamilton county, about which we have heard so much." His only allusion to national affairs was the declaration that a Republican majority in congress was necessary to put things in order for a Republican president in 1888, which was greeted with loud applause.

Unusual interest was taken in the nomination of candidates when that order of business was announced, and an excited but good-natured fight took place over all except that of Gen. J. S. Robinson for secretary of state, which was made by acclamation, and received with great enthusiasm. The nomination for judge of the supreme court came next, and Gen. Noyes made a strong speech in putting the name of Judge Cox, of Cincinnati, before the convention, the significant portion of which was the statement that Judge Cox had shown that he was the man wanted by his decisions in the Hamilton county fraud cases. The other candidates were Marshall J. Williams, of Fayette; L. L. Critchfield, of Columbus; Judge S. S. Knowles, and M. J. Dickman, of Cleveland. Williams got the nomination on the third ballot. The other selections were as follows: Clerk of the supreme court, W. H. Hester; school commissioner, Eli. Tappan; member of public works board, M. W. Hahn.

The last nomination was hurried through, as it was 7 p. m. before the names were presented and the delegates were growing weary. Before the call on the first ballot was completed a motion was made to nominate Hahn by acclamation, which was carried, and the convention adjourned sine die.

Senator Sherman, who was expected to be present to address the convention, failed to put in an appearance.

The platform adopted declares Cleveland's administration has not kept its pledges regarding retrenchment and economy, that the appropriations largely exceeded the revenues, and that the extravagance is the greatest ever known; charges that the dignity and honor of the republic have not been upheld, and that incapacity to secure honorable adjustment of the fisheries dispute has been shown, while we have been involved in unjustifiable complications with Mexico by rash haste and blundering, all of which calls attention to the Republican national platform declaration in favor of international arbitration and the importance of the senate's action in passing the bill providing for a congress of American nations. The action of the administration in the changes in official position is denounced as making civil service reform odious, and also resulting in attempt to blacken the character of many of our best citizens and old soldiers by their removal from office upon the "cowardly subterfuge of 'offensive partisanship.'" To the Union soldier it is affirmed we owe a debt that can not be computed, and pensions should be granted and homes established for all those disabled and in want, therefore, the president's vetoes of pension bills are condemned.

Regarding the tariff, belief is avowed in duties for protection and not only for revenue, and a demand is made for the restoration of the wool tariff of 1867, while the Morrison bill is denounced. The document then declares that the last Democratic state administration exhausted the surplus in the treasury, made the penitentiary a burden to the tax-payers, and compelled the state to become a borrower to preserve its credit; that the Republican party has always been the friend of labor and will always approve every measure that will improve or dignify the laborer's position or protect his interest, while always standing against Anarchism, Socialism or Communism; recognizes the right of labor to organize for its own benefit in any way that does not interfere with the rights of others, favors the creation of a national labor department presided over by a cabinet officer, and demands the appointment of practical men to see to the enforcement of laws made for labor's advantage; expresses disappointment at the refusal of the United States senate to investigate the Payne case: indorses the ousting of the Cincinnati Democratic senators from the last legislature, and declares they hold their seats by shameless and admitted fraud; commends the Dow law as a wise and practical measure, and favors all constitutional means of decreasing the evils of the liquor traffic; rejoices in the progress of the cause of Irish home rule, and sends greeting and cheer to Gladstone and Parnell, hoping for their success in their struggle; indorses the administration of Governor Foraker, and closes with an expression of sorrow at the death of Gen. Grant, whose "life will forever be an inspiration to high and honorable manhood, patriotic devotion to country and loyalty to the principles of Republicanism, which he so flitingly represented and did so much to advance. We shall ever treasure his memory and cherish his deeds."

BLAINE TO THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

He Thinks Their Action a Monumental Instance of Ingratitude.

NORTH BERWICK, Me., 26.—James G. Blaine delivered his second speech in the campaign here Wednesday to an audience numbering 3,000. After a brief introduction he thus addressed himself to the Prohibitionists: "We have a class of persons in this district who, after having remained in the Republican party until it had enacted thirty different varieties of Prohibition acts and embodied Prohibition in the constitution of the state, propose now to put everything at hazard by so voting that the administration of all those acts shall be handed over to men who have constantly opposed them." He said that he had put the question to a Prohibitionist whether it would not be wise for him to vote for that one of the gubernatorial candidates who most personated and represented the Prohibition issue, and received the reply: "Well, Prohibition is in the constitution now, and we can do as we please. They can't get it out!" Mr. Blaine said he would correct a popular fallacy that getting a law into the constitution executes it.

"Suppose," he said, "you put in power a Democratic administration throughout and they simply repeal the prohibitory laws. What good will the article in your constitution do? If any Prohibitionist thinks he can take a vacation on that subject because it is in the constitution, he is laboring under a tremendous error. I do not know anything in the shape of consistency or ingratitude greater than the Republican party having responded in thirty different instances to the wishes of the Prohibitionists, for certain gentlemen to say, 'We propose to have an independent prohibitory party, and we intend to beat your candidate for governor.'"

After urging the Prohibitionists and the workingmen not to throw away their votes, he took up the fishery question, and said that Canada was cultivating pride and sentiment in the direction of British loyalty, and wanted us to help them cultivate their pockets by giving free access to our markets.

KEYSTONE COLD-WATER MEN

Spend a Day Getting Ready to Put Up Ticket and Platform.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—Six hundred and forty-four delegates answered to their names at the state Prohibition convention which met here Wednesday. A choir of children sang several pieces and prayer was offered before the proceedings proper commenced. The chairman of the state committee spoke enthusiastically of the prospects of the party and then named P. P. Hunter, of Chester county, as temporary presiding officer, and after the appointment of the usual committees recess was taken.

After reassembly, while waiting reports of committees, several speeches were made, among the speakers being William Daniel of Maryland, late Prohibition candidate for vice president. A. A. Stevens was reported as permanent chairman. About this time there was a scene of confusion over the attempt of Mrs. Van Kirk, of Allegheny county, by permission of the convention, to read a resolution fervently advocating woman suffrage. As soon as the purport of the resolution became known there were cries of "regular order," and some hisses. The hisses brought out cries of "shame," and "put him out." Mr. Garrett, of Philadelphia, loudly denounced "any man who would hiss a woman."

Order being restored, Mrs. Van Kirk concluded the reading. A message of greeting from Governor St. John, of Kansas, was read saying he was on his way to meet Blaine at a Maine Prohibition meeting. A motion to count the soldier delegates was then made and carried, and 148 veterans responded. Similar counts of clergymen, lawyers and mechanics were made, resulting in showing 108, 58, and 571 respectively, besides 37 teachers and 19 doctors. The convention then adjourned for the day.

IOWA REPUBLICANS NOMINATE.

Senator Allison Condemns the President—Gist of the Platform.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 26.—The state Republican convention opened here Wednesday morning. Senator W. B. Allions was elected temporary chairman. In his speech on taking the chair he criticised the course of the Democratic house of representatives, and condemned the president's failure to sign the Morrison surplus resolution. He declared that if the president had vetoed the resolution it would have been passed immediately over the veto. After the appointment of committees a recess was taken.

When the convention reassembled the following ticket was nominated: Frank D. Jackson, secretary of state, Capt. A. J. Lyons, auditor; V. B. Twombly, treasurer; A. J. Baker, attorney general.

The platform adopted declares for a rigid enforcement of prohibition, and denounces the Haddock murder in Sioux City as a Democratic saloon crime.

The platform also declares that the Democratic national administration has failed to redeem any of its pledges to the people, and condemns the president's vetoes; demands that the public domain shall be given only to actual settlers in limited quantities; opposes the acquisition of public lands by non-resident aliens; arraigns the Democratic majority in the national house of representatives for not passing promptly the Culton inter-state commerce and Sioux City & St. Paul land grand forfeiture bills; urges Iowa representatives in congress to support the bill for the admission of Dakota; demands the enactment of laws giving all disabled veterans of the late war pensions, dating all pensions from the time when a soldier's disability began, and granting pensions to all veterans of the Mexican war who are not laboring under political disability; denounces political outrages committed at the south and in northern cities; sympathizes with Gladstone and Parnell; indorses every legitimate effort of organized labor to obtain justice, and demands its protection from foreign labor and convict competition.

Michigan Republicans.

GRAND RAPIDS, Aug. 26.—The Republican state convention was called to order at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and a temporary organization effected, with Hon. Robert E. Frazer, of Detroit, as chairman. After committees on credentials, permanent organization and resolutions had been appointed an adjournment was taken until 9 o'clock Thursday morning. There has been a lively contest for the governorship between Cyrus G. Luce, ex-master of the State grange, and Minor S. Newell, who is also a farmer and a veteran of two wars. Newell has, however, been detained at home by sickness, while Luce has been here hard at work since Monday, and it is believed that he will be nominated on the first ballot.

North Carolina Democracy.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 26.—The state Democratic convention met here Wednesday. The proceedings were brief and orderly. W. N. H. Smith was nominated for chief justice, and Thomas. S. Ashe and A. S. Merriman for associate justices. All of these are at present justices of the supreme court. No platform was adopted. It is believed that there will be no Republican nominations for these offices.

Split on the Color Line.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 26.—The Republican convention of the Second congressional district at Kinston Wednesday split, one wing nominating James E. O'Hara (colored), the present congressman, and the other nominating J. M. Abbott, of Newberne, a white man.

Met and Took Recess.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 26.—The Republican state convention met Wednesday, but adjourned until Thursday without making any nominations.

Congressional Nominations.

Fifteenth district (Illinois) Republicans Wednesday renominated Hon. J. G. Cannon for congress with almost boisterous enthusiasm.

Congressman W. C. Maybury, of the Detroit (Michigan) district, has withdrawn from the race for the sake of harmony.

J. B. Gilfillan was renominated Wednesday by the Republicans of the Fourth Minnesota district.

Democrats of the Sixth Virginia district took 164 unfruitful ballots for congressional candidate two weeks ago and adjourned. Tuesday they reconvened, and up to 1 a. m. Wednesday had taken 302 more ballots without choice.

DARING ROBBERY IN CHICAGO.

A Commission Man Forced to Hand Over a Check for $150.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—A daring robbery was perpetrated last Thursday afternoon in the Exchange building, and so quiet was the matter kept that no intimation of the affair went beyond the officers employed in the case until the arrest of the criminal, and his arraignment in the police court, Wednesday morning. Frank P. Campbell had been in the employ of James Carruthers, a commission man, who has an office in the Exchange building. Six months ago he left his employer, but, being friendly with him, called occasionally at his office. Last Thursday afternoon he called, and at 2:30 o'clock, when everybody had left the office except Mr. Carruthers, he drew a revolver and placing the muzzle of the weapon close to that gentleman's head, demanded that he write him a check for $150, remarking that he could take his choice in writing the check or of saying his prayers, preparatory to his departure for another world. The thoroughly frightened merchant filled out a check on the First National bank for the amount asked and placed it in the hand of the robber, who hastily ran from the office, shoving the weapon in his coat pocket. Campbell did not go to the bank, but instead proceeded to the office of Robert Warren, where, being recognized as Carruthers' clerk, he easily procured the cash for the check. Tuesday night Campbell was arrested and Wednesday morning in Justice Prindiville's court was granted a continuance in bonds of $1,200. The prisoner vouchsafes no explanation of his conduct, simply intimating that he needed money and knew no other way to get it.

SOME MONEY WE'VE SPENT.

Cost During Ninety-Three Years of Several Kinds of Improvement.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 27.—The treasury department has prepared a statement, showing in detail the amount of money expended throughout the country for public buildings, rivers and harbors, forts, arsenals, armories and other public works, from March 4, 1789, to June 30, 1882, a period of ninety three years. From this statement it appears that there was expended the in period named for

Public buildings	$ 87,038,125
Rivers and harbors	105,756,401
Roads, bridges, and canals	13,256,885
Light-houses, buoys, etc	10,325,829
Mints and assay offices	5,677,647
Forts and arsenals	30,059,782
Total	$252,616,782

In the last four years the expenditures for public buildings have been on a very liberal scale, and if added to the sum above stated would doubtless place the aggregate for this purpose in the neighborhood of 110,000,000.

The state of New York is charged with the largest amount expended for public buildings, the total being $14,317,152. The other states that received over $1,000,000 are: California, $2,113,538; Connecticut, $1,074,925; Illinois, $7,463,937; Louisiana, $1,972,300; Maine, $2,081,129; Maryland, $1,861,005; Massachusetts, $7,070,024; Missouri, $1,537,914; Ohio, $5,716,969; Pennsylvania, $7,068,983; South Carolina, $1,-036,884; Tennessee, $1,125,914. New York also obtained the largest sums for river and harbor improvements, the aggregate being $9,559,971.

Indians Who Are Tired.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 26.—Adjutant General Drum has received the following dispatch from Gen. Miles at Fort Huachuca, Aug. 24: "Lieut. Col. Forsythe returned to this post Tuesday from Fronteras. He reports that hostiles are in the mountains some distance from Fronteras; that the Mexican authorities were to answer Geronimo's overtures yesterday; that the Indians were apprehensive of trickery on the part of the Mexicans. I am informed by Governor Torres that he has directed his officers to offer only terms of unconditional surrender, the same as our officers require. All report the Indians much worn down and tired. Captain Lawton's command is in good condition, and he believes he can kill, capture or force the Indians to surrender, and I have every confidence in his ability and untiring energy. Should he force them near the line, our troops will arrest him."

Appealing for Help.

VICTORIA, Tex., Aug. 26.—The citizens of this place held a meeting Tuesday evening in the court-house for the purpose of devising means for the relief of the sufferers by the recent storm, the devastation being so widespread that the impending suffering is beyond local aid. A relief committee was appointed, which issued an address, urgently appealing to the charitably inclined people of the United States for aid in the matter of food and clothing. Contributions may be forwarded through A. J. Levy or Brownson & Sibley, bankers, of this city; J. W. Brownson (chairman), C. A. Levy, D. S. Rydan, C. C. Chaffee, or A. Goedman, general relief committee.

Shot His Wife by Accident.

WABASH, Ind., Aug. 26.—Wednesday forenoon James H. Keith, a prominent farmer living northwest of this city, accidentally shot his wife while hunting rats on his place. Keith was handling an old shotgun, and the lady approached without being noticed by her husband. She stooped to examine a rat hole as he fired, and received a full charge of shot in the face. Mrs. Keith ran toward the house with blood streaming from her wounds, and sank on the door-step exhausted. It is thought that she will recover.

Will Petition the Legislature.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 26.—A movement is on foot to appeal to the citizens of Cincinnati and of the state of Ohio generally, to sign a petition to the legislature to appropriate a sufficient sum to erect an equestrian statue in bronze of Gen. William Henry Harrison at the celebration of the settlement of Cincinnati, which will be held in this city Sept 22, 1888.

George Chambers, formerly a member of the city council of Pittsburg, announces his intention to swim the whirlpool at Niagara next week without any life-saving appliances.

The Mayflower Will Meet the Galatea.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Mayflower won the second trial race Wednesday, and has been selected to compete with the Galatea. The international races will be sailed Sept. 7, 9 and 11.

was born in Alleu, Allegany Co., N Y., in 1832, of English and Scotch parentage. Longevity is marked on all his ancestry. With nerves as sensitive as the magnetic needle and muscles as strong as steel, with a well balanced frame to support them, it is apparent that he is a proper subject to possess this magnetic power in excess of other men. It is charged against us that we get this wonderful power from an electric battery worn upon our body and arms. This is false. We receive this power from our creator. You ask, what is it? We answer we don't know any more what it is than you do. We are daily healing the Sick. All functional disturbances are controlled like magic by the laying on of hands, no medicines. The lame throw away their crutches and walk; life's current again courses through the palsied and withered limbs; the bloom of health flushes the pallid cheeks that death marked as its own, by the magicial touch of a man's hand.

Since the Savior of man healed the multitudes, nothing has equaled the wonderful and miraculous healing of this phenomenal man. It does not require weeks or months to prove to the afflicted that they will be benefitted, results are manifested at once We care nothing for the cause of your ailment. We treat conditions only and all functional abnormal conditions are controlled and permanently cured without medicines. Dr. Miner has leased Mrs. S. H. Shelton's residence for the summer where he can be consulted from 9 to 12 m, and 1 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m. Will make calls outside of office hours: toct1

—On Saturday evening about 6 o'clock the worst storm of the season swept over this region of the country, a high strong wind, a deluge of rain and terrific thunder and lightning. The lightning's track and the effects of the wind are visible on every hand. Trees broken or blown down, buildings and windmills demolished, corn fields and stacks of hay and grain badly handled and fences prostrated. Harden & Foltz's tobacco sheds are a total wreck. A. B. Roger's wind mill is badly damaged. The barn of Henry Allen in Turtle was set on fire by the lightning and with its contents, 50 tons of hay, entirely consumed. Had it not been for the copious rain falling at the time the other buildings, grain stacks and other property must have been burned. Lightning struck in other places, but the objective points being trees, no serious damage was done that has come to our knowledge at present writing.

—H. C. Thom, of Turtle, having been crowded into the field by his many friends, who well know his abilities, has consented to run for county superintendent as successor to Wm. Jones. If elected, there is no doubt but what he would conduct the affairs of the office in a creditable manner. He has a recommendation from several of the best scholars in the state, and is a thoroughly competent young man.

—Several of our farmers have threshed and find grain a good average yield white the quality is superior.

—Pastures and meadows begin to look green again.

—The granger has already begun to grind the glittering plow.

—Master Freddie Sloat, of Freeport, is visiting his old Clinton friends.

—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Warner, of Marinette, Ohio, is visiting Clinton friends and relatives again, after an absence of many years. Mr. Warner is a son of Dr. C. C. Warner.

—Mr. and Mrs. Helmer, are in Chicago, where Mrs. Helmer is receiving medical treatment.

—One of Mr. John Soper's little girls has a broken arm, too much familiarity with a swing the cause.

—W. C. Brown, of Wells, Minnesota, was in town Friday, putting his house and lot in better condition, repairs much needed.

—Rev. Mr. Hoppel the new Baptist pastor is expected September 1st.

—Rev. E. Boese, pastor of the German Evangelical church, has a class in German at the church four days each week.

—We are pleased to notice that Hon. A. A. Arnold, of Galesville, is a candidate for lieutenant governor. With Mr. Arnold's large experience in state affairs, few men are better qualified for that office. With such men in the field the old, time-tested republican party can have a very strong ticket this fall.

Shopiere.

—The republicans of the town of Turtle will hold a caucus at the town hall Saturday, Aug. 28, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of choosing delegates to the different county conventions.

—Mr. H. C. Thom, of Turtle, has received the following open letter from President G. S. Albee, of the State Normal school at Oshkosh, which will explain itself:

OSHKOSH, WIS., Aug. 19, 1886.

H. C. Thom, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I am glad to learn that you have determined to continue the school work, for you certainly have shown marked ability as teacher in every position held. With your native tact in executive work I am sure that you would organize the work of county superintendency with skill. Should your people place you in such a position, I shall expect to hear of excellent results in the work. Sincerely yours,

G. S. ALBEE.

Mr. Thom is from the State Normal school at Oshkosh; has taught five years in the city schools at Oshkosh, where he had some nine teachers and 400 pupils under his charge. A few years since he purchased a fine farm on the Turtle, and has since been elected on the board of supervisors for two successive terms. Mr. Thom only consented to allow his name to be used at the request of his many friends, who know his ability in the line of school work. We think the letter of President Albee is a sufficient guarantee to the people of this superintendent district as to Mr. Thom's ability.

—During the heavy storm last Saturday evening the lightning struck a large barn on Henry Allen's farm and it was burned with about 50 tons of hay. There was an insurance on the building but none on the contents.

—There will be some sport for the boys on Jerome Shimeall's track next Friday afternoon. Parties from Beloit and other places are coming out with their fast stock to try their speed. Mr. Shimeall has a ½ mile track on his farm one mile north of Shopiere.

—Miss Myrtie Sweet has returned from a month's visit in Dakota where she has been almost roasted alive and yet had a splendid time. May good fortune deliver us from such a visit in that or any other country.

—B. B. Olds and Frank Wesby, of Clinton, attended divine service in our village last Sunday.

—John Weirick and M. F. Allen are putting in a new double arch bridge in place of the old one near the Bell place.

—Miss Jane Stewart has returned from New York state, where she has been to care for her brother, who was severely injured in a mill.

—Henry Leonard, who has been very sick with typhoid pneumonia, at Dr. Manley's, is improving slowly.

—The "Crescents" played the Manchester club a game of base ball at the Johnson farm last Saturday, and came out with a score of 29 to 14 for the Manchester club.

—The Shopiere boys are organizing a band which we expect will give us some fine music soon.

—Many of our citizens were in attendance at the funeral of Miss M. A. Cuckow, at Emerald Grove. She was a teacher in school for a number of years and had many friends in our village.

There will be no service in the Congregational church next Sabbath.

MAKING LEAD PENCILS.

DAILY CONSUMPTION BY THE COUNTRY ONE-QUARTER MILLION.

Separating the Graphite Dust According to Fineness—Mixing the Clay and Forcing the Coil—The Wooden Case and Filling It.

The consumption of lead pencils in this country is estimated at 250,000 a day. This is at the rate of one per day to every 100 of population, or about 78,000,000 a year. Graphite, which is the softest substance dug from the earth, is taken in the lump direct from the mouth of the mine to the reducing mill. Here it is pulverized by stamps under water, the particles floating off with the water through a series of tanks. It comes to the factory in Brooklyn in barrels, in the form of dust. The powder is lusterless and of a dingy color. It is finer and softer than any flour, and can be taken up in the hand just as water can, but is hardly retained more easily than water is. If one attempts to take a pinch of it between the forefinger and thumb it is as evasive as quicksilver, and the only sensation left is that the flesh is smoother than before.

The first process in manufacturing is to separate the graphite dust further, according to fineness. It is mixed with sufficient water to run very freely, and is then turned into a hopper, from which the water runs slowly through a series of tubs. The coarsest and heaviest particles settle to the bottom of the first tub, the next coarsest and heaviest in the next, and so on, the movement of the water being made very gentle. On reaching the last tub, the powder, being twice as heavy as water and sinking in it if undisturbed, has so far settled that the water discharged at the top is nearly clear. After the flow is stopped and the powder allowed to settle, the clear water is withdrawn by removing successively, beginning with the upper one, a number of plugs inserted in holes in the side of each tub, care being used not to agitate the contents so as to disturb the deposited dust. This being done properly, the deposit is removed through the gates at the bottom of each tub. The separation is thus performed, by this ingenious process of "floating," more perfectly than it could by any direct handling, dry treatment being wholly impracticable. For the finest pencils the deposit from the last tub only is used, but for ordinary and cheap grades that from the two before the last will answer.

READY FOR THE CLAY.

The graphite is now ready for the clay. This is a peculiar pipe clay, from Germany. After being subjected to the floating process the finest is mixed with the graphite, in proportions varying according to the degree of hardness required. The more clay used the harder the pencil. For medium grades the proportion is about seven parts clay to ten graphite, by weight. The graphite and clay are mixed together with water, to the consistency of thick cream, and the mixture is fed to the grinding mills, which consist of two flat stones, about two feet in diameter, placed horizontally, only the upper one running. Between these the mass is ground like paint, for the finest pencils as many as twenty-four times, thus securing the most perfect strength, uniformity and freeness from grit in the leads. After grinding the mass is inclosed in stout canvas bags, and the clear water forced out by hydraulic pressure until it becomes a thick dough.

It then goes to the forming press. This is simply a small vertical iron cylinder, having a solid plunger or piston driven by a screw. A plate is inserted in the bottom, having an opening of the shape and size of the lead desired, and the graphite is slowly forced through the hole, exactly as water is forced from a syringe, coiling itself round and round like a coil of wire on a board set beneath the press. The coil is taken up at intervals, "roved" off straight by the hands into lengths sufficient for three leads, which are straightened out, laid in order on a board and pressed flat by putting a cover over them. They are finally hardened by placing them in a crucible and baking in a kiln. The handling must be done expeditiously, as the leads begin drying immediately, and become brittle as they dry; but on first issuing from the press they are so plastic that knots may be tied loosely in them.

THE WOODEN CASE.

The leads are now ready for their wooden case. For the cheapest pencil pine is used; for the common grades an ordinary quality of red cedar. At the saw mills the cedar is cut into blocks, about seven inches long, and these are sawed into strips about three and a half inches wide and three-sixteenths of an inch thick. The pencil consists of two parts glued together, with the lead between. Each strip is wide enough to make the halves of six pencils. The pencils are made six at a time, and imperfect strips are put together so as to make a full strip out of the parts. When these boards (which are now ready for shaping) reach the factory, they are first passed into a continuous line, under a cutter which cuts six little grooves, round or square, for the leads, and smooths the faces by the same stroke. The lead in the foreign pencil lies wholly in one-half of the wood, the other slip being put on as a cover, as nearly everybody has found occasion to know by the covers coming off and leaving an unpleasantly flat surface; but the American method has the groove equally in each strip. Accordingly the two strips are glued alike.

Filling the leads is done by girls, sitting at brass-covered tables. The first takes a grooved slip with her left hand and a bunch of leads in her right. Spreading these out in her fingers like the sticks of a fan, she dexterously lays them in the grooves and passes the filled slip to the girl at the left, who puts over it another slip which has just received a coating of hot glue from a brush wielded by a third. Any two slips fit together, and the united pairs are laid in a row and pressed together in an iron frame by a screw, and the row of slips is left to dry. The rough ends of the slips and the projecting parts are next ground smooth against a wheel covered with sandpaper, and are then ready for the process of separating and shaping, which is done by machinery.—"B. V. H." in Brooklyn Eagle.

Nine Kings and Queens of Spain.

There are at the present time, including the Carlist dynasty in particular, no fewer than nine kings and queens of Spain. First, there is the infant king upon the throne, and his mother the queen regent; then come the ex-Queen Isabella and her husband, King Francis; thirdly, the ex-King Amadeo, brother of the king of Italy; and lastly, the four Carlists—Don Juan III and his queen, Dona Beatrix of Este, the former of whom abdicated a few years ago in favor of his son Don Carlos, who, with his wife, Dona Margaret, makes up the total. An anecdote is told of the ex-King Amadeo paying a visit to the ex-Queen Isabella in Paris a few years ago, when Don Carlos was announced, whereupon Amadeo took his leave, observing with a smile, "I don't think three sovereigns of Spain ought to be in one room."—Vanity Fair.

Origin of Pink Hunting Coats.

It is said that Lady Hasketh, of California origin, was the first to introduce the fashion among the English ladies of wearing pink hunting coats. The origin of this fashion appears to have been profoundly agitating London society for some time past.—New York Graphic.

Consumption Can be Cured.

TOBACCO.

JANESVILLE.

This year bids fair to be a black one for Wisconsin tobacco growers. After fighting drouth until the season was almost over, to have such a storm as the one of Saturday sweep over the country was almost too much. The crop all through the state has been damaged, how much cannot yet be told, but it will be considerable. In many places where the leaf was just ready to cut, the wind and hail together have put it in such a condition that it will be practically valueless. North of the city, however the storm was less severe, and in the country around Milton very few marks of it are to be seen. The markets have been quiet. This week several dealers are out on the road in this part of the state, partly to see what effect the storm had, and partly to purchase, so we may look for some activity in the near future.

—The Misses Shanley, of Chicago, are visiting with Mrs. John Mullen.

—School commenced Monday last in District No. 7, Miss Frane Griswold, teacher. This being Miss Griswold's third term in the district tends to show worth and ability as an instructor of young ideas.

—Mrs. Tasker, of Chicago, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. O. A. Stevens. She was called here by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Ezra Wood.

—The Saturday afternoon storm was very damaging in this section; the wind blew a gale. Among those who sustained losses were: Mr. Frank Story, about three acres of tobacco, completely ruined; Mr. James Costigan, tobacco injured, and tobacco shed moved from its foundation; Mr. Mundt, tobacco shed was thrown to the ground, demolishing a carriage, stored within; lightning struck Mr. C. Leonard's barn; Mr. George Stone's house; the telephone poles along the Milwaukee road, and several shade trees were bent. The storm came from the northwest.

THE WASTING DISEASES OF INFANTS and children are by no means confined to an insufficient supply of food. The trouble is that the food is injudiciously selected, and the limited digestive power of the child is unable to assimilate it. Mellin's food, when prepared according to the directions, forms the best substitute for mothers' milk that has ever been produced.

Bradford.

BRADFORD, WIS., Aug. 24, 1886.

At a meeting of the republican electors of the town of Bradford held at the Town house in said town Aug. 22, 1886, the following persons were elected delegates to the county convention:—B. M. Welsh, H. L. Inman. To the assembly district convention—Robert More and Cornelius Dykeman, Jr. To the senatorial convention—Thomas Barlass and James O. Scott. To the county superintendent convention—John Wetmore and David Dykeman.

WARD CAUCUSES.

The republican electors of the several wards are requested to meet on Friday evening, August 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of electing delegates to the republican county and senatorial conventions, and for the consideration of any business which may be proper. The places of meeting will be:

First ward—West side engine house.
Second ward—East side engine house.
Third ward—The court house.
Fourth ward—The council chamber.
Fifth ward—Dr. Q. O. Sutherland's office.

BY ORDER OF WARD COMMITTEES.
Janesville, August 24, 1886.

Briefiets.

—The grass in the court house park will soon need harvesting.

—The boiling of the political kettle is becoming very noticeable.

—The water commissioners will meet this evening at nine o'clock.

—Beloit Free Press: Gustave Otte, of Janesville, was given fifteen days in jail this morning, for drunkenness.

—Mayor Winans has called a special meeting of the common council for the consideration of "general business" at 7:30 o'clock.

—Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, assemble in regular semi-monthly conclave this evening at Masonic hall.

—Republicans will remember and attend the republican caucuses to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. See the call in this paper.

—Republican caucuses for the election of delegates to the various republican conventions were held this afternoon in Clinton and Milton. Results have not been received.

—Tickets for the conductors' excursion at Twin Lakes next Sunday may be found at King's bookstore, next to postoffice; $1 for round trip.

—The rehearsals given by the ladies who will take part in the production of the "Enchanted Swan" give promise of a very successful performance.

—Whitewater Register: Sergt. Randall of Co. A, was prostrated during dress parade last evening and was carried to his quarters. He is excused from duty to-day, being still under the weather.

—The Badger Soap company, of Janesville, filed articles of association with the secretary of state Wednesday. The capital stock is $6,000. The incorporators are J. M. C. Keller, Mary Conte, L. N. Williamson and Cornelia J. Hanes.

—I. C. Brownell, the North Main street grocer, received, to-day, a choice lot of watermelons, home grown, one of which was sampled this afternoon by the employes of the Gazette, and was pronounced "delicious."

—Six more pictures of the series of stereoptican views issued by G. W. Wise, have been received at this office. They represent different points in the Barnum circus procession. The pictures are very lifelike, and speak well for Mr. Wise's skill as an artist.

—Pope Springs will undoubtedly be kept lively for about ten days to come. A party of young people from the Presbyterian church will be in camp there and lively times are in store for the people who live near the grounds.

—Alternate courses of water melon and musk melon composed the repast spread for the Court Street M. E. church people last evening by the young ladies of that society. The affair was a decided success. A "melon social" proving to be novel and enjoyable.

—Some large and handsome lithographs have made their appearance upon our streets which will repay attention. They represent the famous Rock Harmonicon and the Till brothers and sisters whose performances upon this wonderful instrument our citizens will have an opportunity to hear at Lappin's hall, Sept. 6. Tickets 50, 35 and 25 cents, for sale everywhere.

—There was a large attendance at the reception tendered the Rev. Dr. Whiting at the Congregational church last evening, and the gathering was a most happy one. Besides the many members of the reverend gentleman's former congregation who were present, a large number from other denominations also joined in welcoming him. Refreshments were served and the time was made to pass very pleasantly.

—E. B. Heimstreet, secretary of the State Pharmaceutical society, has been to Elkhorn, prosecuting Jackson Bros., of Delavan, for selling drugs without a license. The firm finally entered a plea of guilty, and was fined fifty dollars and costs. Pharmacists in some towns think that all they have to do is to take out a license and then let any one who comes along sell their poisons. This is not so. Only registered pharmacists are allowed to sell these dangerous drugs and this should be thoroughly understood.

—This morning the men who are to go to work on the Evansville cut off, started out of the city. The procession was a long one, and some parts of the outfit attracted considerable attention. The grading is to be let by contractors to smaller contractors. One length of the road has been let to John R. Ryan, of this city, who will commence Saturday. Several carloads of mules and supplies have arrived in the city for use on the line, and more are on the way.

—Prof. Wm. M. Lawrence, recently principal of one of the Milwaukee schools, and Mrs. M. A. Shaw, of Pembroke, Ontario, were married yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert F. Gates, in the town of Beloit, the Rev. G. W. Lawrence, father of the groom, officiating. Prof. Lawrence is a young gentleman well known in this city, where he was born and reared, and is held in the highest esteem by a large circle of intimate friends. Prof. and Mrs. Lawrence will make their future home in Chicago, where the well wishes of all will follow them.

—A visit to the Milwaukee Industrial Exposition building reveals an unusual scene of bustle and activity within the walls of that great structure. Upon every hand workmen are busy with hammer and saw in arranging neat and attractive places in which manufacturers and merchants are to exhibit their goods, and the painter and decorator follows in quick succession to add the finishing touches. Every exhibit is to be in place and everything brought into readiness to receive the criticisms of the public by the opening day of the exposition, September 1.

—An alarm of fire was telephoned the fire department at 12:30 this afternoon, summoning the department to the rear of Skinner's restaurant, No. 7 North Main street. The fire proved to be in the roof of a small wooden "lean to" in which was a steam boiler, used to furnish power for Shurtleff, the ice cream man. The fire was in the roofing boards, near the smoke stack from which it took fire. The fire was extinguished by the aid of a force pump and hose on the premises. The loss will not amount to more than two or three dollars. Insured.

—The board of water commissioners held an adjourned meeting last evening for the purpose of taking action on the report of Engineer Ruger, relating to the piping of the city. All the commissioners were present except President Pease. On motion of Commissioner Denniston, Commissioner Eldredge was elected president pro tem. The journal was read and approved. After a little informal conversation, in which most of the commissioners expressed a desire to have all the members present when considering so important a question, it was decided to adjourn until nine o'clock this (Thursday) evening, and the board so adjourned.

—The humble cow has a soulful champion in an Iowa editor, who, in arraying her against the oleomargarine machine, says: "The cow converts millions of tons of herbage every year into the richest food for man. Although the scale of animal existence is almost infinitely graduated, the cow is the chief connecting link between human life and the earth that supports it. She is man's forager and nurse after he quits his mother's breast till he drops into the grave. Her patient churning mouth is always going as if she was aware that millions are depending on her for their most welcome luxuries, as well as nearly half their sustenance."

Personal.

—Miss Lou Holloway is enjoying a short visit at Brodhead.

—Mrs. John Livingston, of Chicago, is the guest of Mrs. M. J. Conroy, 78 Pearl street, first ward.

—J. H. Sonfield started to-day for St. Paul, where he will engage in business.

—The Rev. Father Munich, formerly pastor of St. Mary's church, in this city, but now of Racine, is here on a short visit.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Fredendall, of Laramie City, Wyoming, are in the city visiting Mr. Fredendall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fredendall.

—Mrs. M. E. Buckingham, of Fort Atkinson, and Mrs. H. S. Smith, of Chicago, are in the city the guests of Mrs. A. H. Stickney, 30 North Academy street, first ward.

—Mrs. A. O. Wilson and daughter, Genevieve, returned home yesterday afternoon from Jefferson, Ohio, Mrs. Wilson's former home, where she has been visiting for several weeks.

Lost Children Found.

The 10 a. m. passenger train from Madison this morning had on board two children, aged about 1½ and 3 years. At Milton their mother stepped off the train for some purpose, and while absent the train pulled out for Janesville. Finding that the train had left with her little ones the mother was almost crazed, and no one offering her any assistance, the poor woman started on foot for this city, where she arrived at noon, finding her darling little ones safe in charge of the agent at the depot in this city. She returned on the 12:20 train, going to Whitewater, her destination.

A Card.

To the Editor.

In reply to an editorial which appeared in the Recorder of Wednesday morning seriously reflecting on my honor, I wrote a plain statement of the facts for that paper of this morning's issue, which not appearing, I take this method of assuring Mr. Wilson that the members of the Press Association answer only to their names as called, not giving any paper, and had the editor of the Recorder been at all acquainted with the customs of that body, he would have known that each member answers for himself only; and that the honor(?) of representing that defunct sheet was due only to a blunder committed by the reporter of the Marinette Eagle.

Sanitarium Crackers.

As there is quite a demand for the invalid food recommended by so many physicians for those with disordered digestion or those who believe an ounce of prevention to be worth a pound of cure, J. A. Hay Fever.

I have been a hay fever sufferer for three years; have often heard of Ely's Cream Balm spoken of in the highest terms; did not take much stock in it because of the many quack medicines. A friend persuaded me to try the Balm and I did so with wonderful success.—T. S. Geer, Syracuse, N. Y.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to all hay fever sufferers, it is, in my opinion, a sure cure. I was afflicted for 25 years, and never before found permanent relief.—W. H. Haskins, Marhfield, Vt.

"ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE."

And attempted to carve up his kwife.
But the neighbors ran in,
In the midst of the din.
And succeeded in saving her klife.

A maid, with expression benign,
Whose dresses were costly and fign.
Was wooed by a youth,
But she doubted his truth,
And to give him her hand did decline.

NEWEST THING OUT.

AT ANY RATE MRS. POWERS PROBABLY THINKS SO.

A Bat Lives Seven Years in a Woman's Stomach and Is Finally Released from Its Imprisonment, Still Alive—How It Got There and the Result of Its Presence.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 26.—The medical fraternity of Cambridge are deeply interested in the case of Mrs. Mary Powers, residing at 21 Grant street, Cambridge, who seven years ago swallowed a bat while drinking water pumped from a well. The creature has lived in her stomach and bowels until last Monday, when it was omitted. Mrs. Powers substantiates the report very positively, and gives the following account of the manner in which she came to swallow the animal and of the trouble it has caused her: Seven years ago she lived at Arlington, and one evening went to the pump for a drink. It was dark, and she drank the water without examination. She was conscious, however, that she had swallowed something which she thought might be a fish or a toad. A week or two afterward she was taken sick and had a physician. He attended her several times, but could not understand her case. Her body and limbs became swollen, and she was in great distress in her bowels. She finally got better for a time, only to be taken with another similar attack. Alternate periods of sickness followed from that time to this, and she has tried numberless physicians, even being sent to the Massachusetts general hospital at one time, but nobody could understand her case or give her relief. She gradually lost the use of her limbs, and had been given up as incurable. Last Monday she felt much worse, and the pains in her bowels were worse than ever. She was greatly relieved when the bat passed away from her and has since picked up rapidly in health. The bat is now quite a large one, measuring from tip to tip about six inches. Its head is the most peculiar feature about it, but slightly resembling an ordinary bat in that regard. It has a large mouth and nostrils, which look more like those of a miniature rhinoceros. The head is nearly an inch in length, from the lower jaw of which hangs several tufts of long hair. The eyes and nostrils are very clearly marked, as is also the snout. The rest of the body is like a bat, with hooked wings and other characteristics. The animal is still alive and very active. Mrs. Powers has it confined in a large fruit jar, and has exhibited it to more than 300 curious callers.

The National Ball League Directors.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—At the meeting of the board of directors of the National ball league Wednesday night, the representatives of the St. Louis club stated that the club would not withdraw from the league, but would secure better backing and pay all back dues in full. A proposed amendment to the constitution on behalf of the St. Louis club, permitting Sunday games, was lost. Messrs. Spalding, Day and Malony were appointed a committee to negotiate the sale and purchase of retired and expelled clubs, and with full authority to provide for players of retiring and expelled clubs, and the placing of them where they may deem it for the best interests of the league.

Making the Base Ball Record.

National league clubs made the following scores Wednesday: At Detroit—Philadelphia 5, Detroit 6; at Chicago—Boston 1, Chicago 8; at St. Louis—Washington 2, St. Louis 0; at Kansas City—New York 6, Kansas City 2. American association: At Philadelphia—(morning game) Athletic 5, Baltimore 4; (afternoon game) Athletic 4, Baltimore 2—eight innings; at Cincinnati—St. Louis 6, Cincinnati 3; at Louisville—Pittsburg 7, Louisville 2—six innings, rain; at Brooklyn—Metropolitan 3, Brooklyn 2.

The Strangler to Wrestle Cannon.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Evan Lewis, the strangler, accompanied by "Parson" Davies, left for Cincinnati, Wednesday night, where he is to wrestle Tom Cannon. Paddy Ryan, who is at present training for his glove contest with Frank Glover, has promised to second Lewis in his match. Lewis now weighs 190 pounds, twenty-one pounds more than he did when he last wrestled Cannon.

Fatal Carriage Accident.

WINDSOR, Vt., Aug. 26.—A carriage containing Senator Evarts of New York, Charles C. Perkins of Boston, and a daughter of Judge Stanley Matthews of Ohio, was accidentally overturned Wednesday evening, instantly killing Mr. Perkins and severely bruising Senator Evarts and Miss Matthews. Their injuries are not serious.

A Tried Remedy for Biliousness.

Those who suffer from disorder or inaction of the liver will never get the upper hand of the unruly organ so long as they use such irrational remedies as blue pill, calomel and podophyllin. But from the tried and popular medicine, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, they may expect relief with a certainty of obtaining it. The influence of the Bitters upon the great biliary gland is direct, powerful and speedily felt. The relief afforded is not spasmodic, but complete and permanent. The sallowness of the skin, furred appearance of the tongue, indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, pains through the right side and shoulder, in fact, every accompaniment of the obstinate complaint are entirely and promptly removed by a course of this inestimable medicine, in behalf of which testimony is constantly emanating from every quarter, and from all classes of society.

A Rare Opportunity.

I offer for sale, the best livery stable in southern Wisconsin, with all the appointments of a first class livery business. Well sell the barn and real estate with the stock and business, on very favorable terms, or will sell the stock and furnishings, and rent the barn for a term of years. The business is a prosperous and paying one, and the owner can give good reasons for making the change. It is a grand opening for a live man. For terms, call or address

Parties living near Winneconne recently went north, took their cans and sugar, picked blackberries, and canned them on the ground.

While engaged in his barn at Oshkosh, Wednesday evening, G. C. Nash, an old and respected citizen, fell against a horse and was so badly kicked that he died the same evening.

The Southwestern Wisconsin Industrial association opens at Mineral Point Aug. 31 and closes Sep. 3. The Iowa County fair begins Sep. 14 and continues four days.

The arch to be erected at the intersection of Main, Algoma and Washington streets, Oshkosh, in honor of the Iron Brigade, which assembles in that city next week, will be one of the most elaborate ever seen in Oshkosh. It was designed by Robert Braun.

Saturday lightning struck the barn of Andrew Milgert near Medina, burning it to the ground with the contents consisting of about 400 bushels of wheat in the bundle and about the same amount of oats, some hay and four calves. Mr. Milgert will get an insurance of about $1,059.75.

A disease has broken out among cattle in the town of Irving, Jackson county, which is puzzling the farmers, and is a source of much alarm. They are first taken with dumpishness, and soon get so weak that they cannot get up alone and pass some blood. They die from one to two days after being taken with the disease.

A lumberman, just down from the Eagle river country, says the water has raised two feet. It is thought that when the main river feels the dull effect of the streams that the logs will loosen. There never was a more anxious time in Merrill over the "turn of the tide" than now. Lumber and life are seemingly inseperable in a northern town.

One of the nurserymen at Sturgeon Bay has received an order from St. Louis for about 3000 yards of evergreen wreath to be used in decorations on the occasion of the democratic convention in that city. The evergreen is bound on manilla rope with wire, and some of the pieces will be 300 feet in length. The whole will weigh about four tons. The nurseryman is also to furnish about a ton of evergreen boughs.

A stove at the residence of the Hon. M. J. Briggs, Dodgeville, was blown to pieces, mysteriously. It has been discovered that old cases in which Etna powder cartridges had been shipped were used for kindling the fire. The cartridges which contained a small percentage of glycerine, sometimes leak. Several old cases have since been examined and found to contain a sufficient amount of the explosive to require careful attention.

At 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, fire was discovered in the barn of J. P. Switzer, a gardener, in the sixth ward, Madison. The building and two horses, one Jersey cow, a Durham bull and a Durham stag, were consumed before the fire department arrived. The loss to Mr. Switzer is about $1,800; insurance, $1,000. The circumstances show plainly that the origin of the fire was incendiary, the fire having started in a hay-mow. It is thought to be the work of tramps.

The reunion of the Iron Brigade at Oshkosh, is to commence next Tuesday afternoon and continue until Thursday. Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Foster and Colonel D. Cleveland. The annual address will be delivered by General E. S. Bragg, and speeches will be made by Colonel Bouck, G. M. Woodward and others. On Wednesday there will be a street parade and an excursion to Neenah, Menasha and Island park, and in the evening a grand ball at the armory of the Oshkosh guards. Thursday the visitors will be shown over the city.

Another natural gas well has been discovered six miles from Kaukauna, which proves to be more powerful and extensive than those heretofore found. It is on the farm of Peter Kilian, Jr. While digging a well, at the depth of ninety-seven feet, gas was discovered, and being ignited blazed forty feet into the air, burning for five hours, and then it was with difficulty that it was squelched. Capitalists who have interested themselves in natural gas in that vicinity are investigating the matter and pronounce it a valuable find. Negotiations for the property are being made.

Appleton Post: A large deposit of chalk has been found on the farm of William Tesch, about half a mile from Brillion. The top of the bed is about six feet below the surface of the ground, and where it has been examined the deposit appears to be from six to ten feet in thickness. It is spread over such an area of territory as to be practically inexhaustible, the outline having been traced a quarter of a mile in one direction and a half mile in the other. Near the surface the chalk is not as pure as below, being mingled with dirt and various substances, but as one goes deeper into the bed the material is found to be 90 per cent. pure chalk. As this commodity is worth about two cents a pound, the development of the discovery is likely to prove very remunerative.

The building of the new railroads at LaCrosse is giving that city a regular boom. Few people at home or abroad realize how fast La Crosse is growing and improving. Buildings are being erected the total cost of which will be $270,000. One block being erected for McMillan, the wealthy property owner, will cost $65,000. Other buildings are also being erected costing anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000 each. As a sample of what is being done in one part of the city, the improvement at Grand Crossing by the Chicago, Burlington & Northern railroad may be mentioned. The shops will amount to $150,000 at this time and the company have only got about fairly started at their work at that point. The Chicago & Northwestern company have also expended about $350,000 in purchasing right of way and in the construction of trestles, etc, to get into the city.

To Exchange.

I will trade a house, barn, lot and a half in this city worth two thousand dollars, and take as part payment good western land, a small house and lot, or vacant lots. D. CONGER.

Cheap Wood.

A. O. Kent & Co. sell dry basswood strips, cut up ready for stove wood or kindling, at $1.50 per load, delivered. Leave orders at Ball & Bates' grocery, North Main street, or lock box 125.

TRAMP REPORTERS.

VAGABONDS OF THE PRESS WHO ARE RUNNING AT LARGE.

Turning Their Backs on Steady Work They Wander Away to Enjoy the Less Remunerative Sweets of Liberty—Several Examples.

The vagabond streak is very strong in the telegrapher and the compositor. Like all skilled workmen they are sure of a living anywhere they happen to land, if they only care to work. Both profit by the sub system, which gives them a chance where regular employment might be wanting. As a rule it is the best men whose facility renders them reckless and whose habits are loose and improvident, who succumb to the temptation of turning their backs on hard work, and wander off to work a deal harder to less profit, but with the sweets of liberty for compensation. I suppose there is no reason that a reporter should not experience the same yearning. But his chances of earning a subsistence by the way are so much less that his appearance in the role of a gypsy is more to be wondered at.

VAGABONDS OF THE PRESS.

At any rate, there is quite a considerable number of these vagabonds of the press now at large. I met one of them, a well-known man on The Philadelphia Press a couple of years ago, in Cleveland. I was breakfasting between trains at the depot early in the morning. He came in, dirty and shabby, but he paid for his breakfast and ate a lusty one, you may be bound. He was on his way from Chicago to Buffalo, returning from a tramp that had led him as far west as Louisville. He had come in on a freight train, and some drovers he had made friends with were going to help east in their caboose. This man, when I last heard of him was editing a paper in western Pennsylvania, and was reported to be settled and doing well.

There used to be a droll, dry genius about newspaper row, who worked for the Sunday papers and wrote funny stories that were really funny to read. He disappeared suddenly and every one thought him dead. A long while afterward, being in Baltimore, I came across a paper published on the eastern shore that bore his name as proprietor. I learned that he had started on a stroll south, had walked into Dover on foot, met an old friend who possessed some means, and got him to set up a paper for him. They were doing well at the time I write of, but a few months later the editor did not report for duty one morning. He sent a note to his friend saying that he was going west. By foot and rail he penetrated as far as Kansas. There I lost track of him, acting as sub-editor on a paper in Atchison. He is probably well on his way around the world by this.

A CONFIRMED ROVER.

There recently returned to New York a pressman whom every old timer on the Row knows. He was regarded fifteen years ago as one of the most able reporters in the city. He has worked, and worked among the best, on all the great papers, and done some of the brightest and cleverest reportorial work that has got into print in the metropolitan dailies. But he is a confirmed rover, and can never be counted on from day to day. He makes periodical disappearances from New York, and after months is heard of as being connected with some out-of-town paper. He always gets good berths, for his ability commands respect and has a tangible value. Formerly he did not go further away than Philadelphia, Baltimore, Albany or Hartford. Then he began to drift to such distances as Boston and Pittsburg. Then his operations extended to Chicago, St. Louis and into Minnesota and Dakota. When I shook hands with him the other day at the postoffice he was fresh from Denver.

I once asked this man why he deliberately sacrificed his opportunities as he did, and broke away from connections he could easily have made permanently profitable. "I can't help it," he replied; "I get so infernally tired of New York that I have to get out."

"Then, why don't you stay out when you get a good thing?"

"Because I get so tired of being away," said he, "that I have to come back."

Here you have epitomized the creed of the tramps of journalism.—Alfred Trumble, in The Journalist.

Seeking a Beautiful Melody.

The British museum has purchased from Mrs. Balfe a musical album left by her husband, in which are to be found the original sketches for the airs, concert pieces, finales and scenes of various kinds belonging to his different operas. The sketches that have been turned to account are crossed over with penmarks, and the book is full of ideas and suggestions of which the fertile composer had made no practical use. Balfe worked with great facility, but he took trouble with his work all the same, and in the well known "situation" in "The Bohemian Girl," where the favorite tenor song "When Other Lips" occurs, he placed, one after the other, four different airs before he could find one that completely satisfied him. These airs, with different rhythms and different tempi, are all set down in the album, including one which had been learned by the tenor, W. H. Harrison; and rehearsed with orchestra when, at the last moment—constantly urged by his wife to think of something better—Balfe was suddenly visited by the beautiful melody which, with her approval, he finally adopted.—Manchester Guardian.

A Razor Crank.

"Do you know?" said my barber the other day as he finished whistling "There's Razors in the Air," "that there is a newspaper man in this city who keeps thirty-one razors on hand ready for use all the while? Well, there is just such a man here, and he hasn't even been mentioned as a candidate for the insane asylum, either." I was down in Grabenstatter's barber shop a while ago, and this man came in and inquired how much the "honing" of his razors would be. I naturally supposed he had two razors. Imagine my surprise when the tonsorial artist said $10, and handed out a bundle as big as a loaf of bread. I inquired into the matter and discovered that each razor was numbered for a day of the month, and no razor was used but once within that length of time.—Buffalo Courier.

A Curious War Experience.

Thomas Cowing, now connected with the Fergus Falls land office, has had a war experience worth repeating. In one of the bloody battles of '63 he was shot through and through and left for dead. A surgeon, passing by and believing his to be a hopeless case, gave him a dose of poison to end his misery. Three weeks later Cowing was back in the field of duty. He met the surgeon who gave him the poison and asked him what it was. "Well," replied the astounded official, "I gave you enough of one of the deadliest poisons that there is to kill three men." Despite that fact, Cowing lived to tell the story and to become a capable officeholder.—Pioneer Press "Voices."

Young man, you have it within yourself to amount to something. In fact, the world expects you to. See that you do not disappoint it.—Jud Lafagan.
